Bay 'Neighborhood Campaign' begins

BY ELLIS CUEVAS

The City of Bay St. Louis 'Neighborhood Campaign' to serve citizens in several areas began on Genin Street this week.

The four goals of the special campaign are to develop neighborhood awareness, neighborhood watch, neighborhood clean up and neighborhood pride.

Residents of Genin, a one-block street, received letters from Mayor Edward A. Favre, urging residents to participate in the 'Neighborhood Campaign'.

A city work crew was on the street this week trimming trees and doing minor street repairs. A dumpster was deposited on the street for residents to place lawn trimmings (not for household garbage). It is scheduled to be removed by Gulf Coast Waste and Disposal on Monday morning.

Commenting on Neighborhood Watch, the mayor's letter stated, "Once you get to know each other, you'll be able to help each other protect your property, help the police department stop burglary, vandalism, and related crimes."

The letter said police would be in touch to reactivate the Neighborhood Watch program.

Norbert Redmond, director of public works for the city, on Friday said, "If there are some elderly residents in need of some special assistance with debris, please contact the city. We will do anything within the law in helping to make this Neighborhood Campaign is a success."

Residents with very heavy objects who are unable to get them to the dumpster on Genin Street, can place them on the side of the road, Redmond stated.

Redmond indicated this special cleanup was on a trial basis and the city was hoping it would be successful and could be done over the entire city.

The 100 block of Felicity Street is the next scheduled area for the 'Neighborhood Campaign', Redmond added.

AIR SHOW—The Great Gulf Coast Air Races and Air Show continues today at Stennis International Airport. The pilot and co-pilot of a World War II 1942 PT-13 Trainer prepares to start his engine Saturday for a practice run. The annual event is presented by Chapter 479 of the Experimental Aircraft and Gulf Coast Air Race Associations. Gates open at 8 a.m. with race heats beginning at 10 a.m. with races and shows until 4:30 p.m. Antique, experimental and military aircraft will be on display. (Echo staff photo by Ellis Cuevas)

Police Department; and JoAnne Lagasse, Retired Senior Volunteer Program executive director. The project involves the use of teddy bears by police in dealing in matters involving children. (Echo staff photo by Ellis Cuevas)

Hug-A-Bears ride with police

BY ELLIS CUEVAS

Teddy bears now accompany Bay St. Louis Police officers in their vehicles while on patrol.

The Hug-A-Bear Project is a nationwide effort by the Telephone Pioneers of America, according to Tim Ryan, assistant manager of the Gulf Coast District.

Police officers carry the small teddy bears in their vehicles and present them to children whenever they are involved in any incident.

Cpl. Don Ocho said, "Whenever a child is involved in an accident, domestic matter and even in cases where there is a fire at the child's residence, he will be given a Hug-A-Bear. The bear is to help soothe a child during a crisis."

Patterns for the Hug-A-Bears have been provided to the Retired Senior Volunteers Program and Senior Citizens by the Pioneers of America.

Ryan stated, "The program is already in place in Harrison County. I was approached by Deputy Chief Mark Ohman about the possibility of it being used by his department. I contacted JoAnne Lagasse at RSVP and she agreed to do the Hug-A-Bears for Hancock County through the volunteer programs."

The special bears are made from 'scratch' and involve several steps, Lagasse said.

Scrap materials are the primary materials used and the Pioneers also pay for the stuffings.

Lagasse said it takes some time to complete the Hug-A-Bears and after the Bay Police Department has an ample supply, they will expand the project to other police departments.

The project was also developed to leave a good impression on children about police, Ohman said.

The bears are of assorted colors and some 50 have already been completed by Senior Citizens.

Educators, counselors, Youth Court officers join efforts to combat truancy, delinquency

Local educators, counselors and Hancock County Youth Court personnel are working together to enforce compulsory attendance in hopes of preventing delinquency.

Youth Court Judge Michael D. Haas reported a productive meeting recently, in which Bay, Waveland and Hancock County School District administrators and staff members met with him and School Attendance Officers Frank McNeil and Yvonne Landry. A common goal is to keep area youth in school and off the streets, where they are more likely to get into trouble.

Judge Haas spoke on the effectiveness of the schools and court working together to prevent a high rate of compulsory school age children being suspended or expelled and being placed out of school into unsupervised situations. By parents working with the Youth Court and contacting the school attendance officers, alternatives can be found to children being unsupervised.

Janet Polozola of Hancock Medical Center spoke on the Youth Education Program. Polozola works as a volunteer for the Youth Court offering sexual education and pregnancy counseling. She presented an overview of the parenting and teen education program conducted by Extension Home Economist Darlene Underwood.

Bobbie Varvel explained her position as an instructor with the 'Sentenced to Read/Basic Skills for Employment' program in the Youth Court.

It is also an effective education program to help children attain a grade level closer to their respective age group. Children are placed in these programs through the court, and making the educators aware of these programs may provide opportunities for more

Certificate of need granted for private nursing facility

BY DENA BISNETTE

The Mississippi State Department of Health has approved a certificate of need for a proposed skilled nursing facility in the Diamondhead area.

The certificate provides for the establishment and construction of a 40-bed nursing home, involving a capital expenditure of $1,854,200, under the approval of State Health Officer Alton B. Cobb, M.D., M.P.H. The approval falls under 1986 legislation which designates the state health officer as having the authority to grant certificates of need.

However, under a state moratorium on new nursing home beds except in areas showing a demonstrated need, the consideration of the certificate had to be approved by the Mississippi legislature.

State Representative J.P. Compretta of Bay St. Louis said the legislature approved this particular certificate as an amendment to Senate Bill 295 last year.

He said the Diamondhead area facility would be part of a larger, private complex and would be available on a private pay basis only, if it is built.

Mrs. Cecile Grice of Diamondhead explained that the nursing home is a project which has been on hold for some time.

She and her late husband began dealing with Life Care Services of Des Moines, Iowa, the firm which will operate the facility if it is built, several years ago, but so far, a site has not yet been determined.

She explained that a number of delays have occurred, but that plans call for a continual care retirement home located somewhere in the vicinity of Diamondhead, but not necessarily in Diamondhead itself.

Grice has seen other Life Care facilities and said she feels "it would be just what we need in this area."

Under Life Care's program, residents may purchase any size apartment they wish. They must be ambulatory at the time they become residents, and Grice said the skilled nursing

ELVINA MOORE

Waveland lady reaches 100 years

BY D.C. HARVILL

Few people get to celebrate their 100th birthday but, on Tuesday Elvina Moore of Waveland will be one of those few.

Moore, a native and lifelong resident of Hancock County, was born October 10, 1889, at Claiborne, near Ansley.

She attributes her longevity to a firm belief in God and a life spent helping others.

"Be good and kind to people God will take care of you and let you know when people are trying to do you harm," she said.

Of the fifteen children of Marten and Emily Johnson, Moore and a brother in Gulfport are the only two who remain.

While she was still a child her father, an L&N Railroad section boss, moved his family to a home just off Waveland Avenue in Waveland where her mother, a midwife, "grew every kind of fruit tree imaginable."

She recalls her mother mending a nearly severed finger by wrapping it in cobwebs and red clay.

In her long life, Moore has worked at a number of jobs, including "washing and ironing" and cooking in a restaurant.

She also road a bus "for so many years" to factories along the Coast where she shucked oysters.

"I'd get up before daylight every morning. I wouldn't miss that bus-I wouldn't miss a morning. I used to love it. But I couldn't eat the oysters—they'd cramp me to death. I couldn't eat them, but I shucked them," Moore said.

In addition to her own children, Moore also helped "raise a lot of people around here" and spent "many nights sitting up with the sick."

Moore's husband, Tom Moore, was a baptist minister. "That man could sing," she said.

Tom Moore died in 1973 at 84.

To her knowledge, Mrs. Moore is the only member of her family to reach the century mark.

On Tuesday, the city of Waveland will recognize Moore's achievement when Mayor John Longo Jr. presents her with with an Outstanding Citizen certificate.

Correction

An article in Thursday's Echo inadvertently stated that Mary Ann Barbetta, who was charged with embezzling money from the Kilmajic Market, had been held in Hancock County Justice Facility on a $5,000 bond. She was arrested and released on a $1,000 bond.

Correction

The Page One article in Thursday's Echo about the Fifth District Congressional election inadvertently listed Republican Tom Anderson's returns as having been 32 percent. Anderson actually garnered 37 percent of the vote.

children in need of special attention.

Assistant Superintendent James Pair of the Hancock County School System and Superintendent Robert Magee of the Bay-Waveland School System were both in attendance.

School principals attending included Donald Hillman, Hancock North Central High School; Kim Stasny, Hancock North Central Elementary; Cecil Powell, Hancock North Central Junior High; Roger James, Bay Senior/Junior High Schools; Woody Alliston, Bay Middle School; James Baldree, Waveland Elementary; Rodney Fisher, North Bay Elementary; and Clementine Williams, Charles B. Murphy School.

Also in attendance were School Board members Carol Bustetter, Barbara Dedeaux and Lennette Necaize of the Hancock County School Board; Danny Crter and Chuck Benvenuti of the Bay-Waveland School Board and personnel from the special education programs.

It was noted several children have already been placed back into the mainstream of the school system by the school and are being monitored by the court's attendance officers/counselors.

"Due to the increase in the compulsory school age of 17 this year, prevention and awareness of the availability of alternatives to educators and school personnel may keep our children in school and decrease juvenile delinquency and crimes in Hancock County," said Haas.

With the education personnel and the Youth Court working together to provide alternatives for the children, we may affect a change in Hancock County that will improve the attitudes of the community and the children. The goal is to prevent juvenile delinquency and lower the drop-out rate in our county by enforcing the compulsory attendance law," he continued.

Tougher attendance laws penalize the parents for a child's absence. Parents are now being contacted and warned by attendance officers of consequences if they don't enroll their children in school and see to it that they stay in school. They can also be brought before the court for violation of the law.

"QUOTABLE QUOTES"

By Ellis C. Cuevas

A blood drawing will be held by the Hancock County Blood Bank on Wednesday from 1 p.m. to 7 p.m. at the American Legion Home on Green Meadow Road in Bay St. Louis.

The Red Cross Mobile Unit will be on hand for the drawing. A goal of 100 units has been set, according to John Rutherford, local chairman.

There is always a need for blood, and the American Red Cross supplies the blood used at the Hancock Medical Center in Bay St. Louis as well as to hospitals along the Coast.

Persons who are physically able and 17 years old or older are urged to donate a unit of blood.

One never knows when that person or a family member will need blood.

Don't forget, 'Big John' will be looking for blood on Wednesday.

The annual Our Lady Academy Food Fest continues today from noon until 6 p.m.

There will be a wide variety of foods such as, American, Italian, Western, Greek, Oriental, Cajun, Mexican, Seafood and German food available.

The students and parents of Our Lady Academy have worked very hard in planning and preparing for this annual event.

It makes me hungry just to write about the yummy foods.

The Great Gulf Coast Air Races and Air Show is scheduled to continue today with gates opening at 8 a.m.

The events take place at the Stennis International Airport located off Highway 603 north of Interstate 10. Many types of aircraft will be on display along with some good foods and entertainment for all ages.

This is an annual event sponsored by Chapter 479 of the Experimental Aircraft Association and Gulf Coast Air Race Association.

Michael Smith of Bay St. Louis is president of the association, and he said they expect a big crowd this year with the addition of the air races to go along with the air show.

I have enjoyed previous air shows and found them very entertaining.

As many of you are aware, the Fitness Track in front of the Hancock Medical Center is very popular.

The Hancock County Chamber of Commerce and Bay-Waveland Garden Club are in the final process of planning for landscaping the area.

There still is a need to do some filling and leveling of the shoulders of the one-half mile track.

Hilda Bourg's small staff has been keeping the grass cut and doing some of the shoulder work in recent weeks.

The season is here to plant winter rye grass. Rye grass seeds have been donated by Betsy Ashman of Hancock Insurance Agency.

A few weeks ago Bourg, Hancock County Parks and Recreation director, and I had a discussion about how a large group could get together and in half a day or so do a lot of leveling in preparation for seeding.

On Saturday, Oct. 14, beginning at 8 a.m. there will be a 'work day' at the track for anyone who would like to give a hand.

Volunteers are requested to bring rakes, shovels, wheel barrows and gloves.

Bourg told me on Friday that the Hancock County Supervisors have agreed to see that enough fill dirt will be available to finish the shoulders.

With a lot of folks working it shouldn't take too much time to dress the track up and have the shoulders looking nice and green.

I will be out there helping, and I hope you will too.

National Newspaper Week October 8-14

It gives me great pleasure to offer my warmest greetings to all those newspaper staffers and readers in America joining with the Newspaper Association Managers in celebrating National Newspaper Week.

Nothing is more vital to good government than a citizenry that is well informed. Since the beginning of our nation, the American people have relied upon newspapers to give an accurate accounting of events in their communities, across the nation, and around the world. It is a tremendous responsibility, and we are grateful for the many newspaper men and women who have dedicated their lives to this noble profession.

A free and responsible press is an indispensable element of our American society. But, of course, newspapers do so much more than simply report the events that shape our lives—they serve as the guardians of one of our most precious liberties, the freedom of speech. I commend all of you for your outstanding service to America. Keep up the great work!

Barbara joins me in sending best wishes for a most informative week. God bless you.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Flag flies for the free and brave

To the Editor:

The piece in the Sept. 28 edition of The Echo, called 'Remember Me' was the most beautiful piece of writing I have seen in a long, long time.

It reminded me of something Senator Trent Lott said regarding the burning of our flag in Texas.

He said, and I quote, "The Stars and Stripes is not merely a piece of fabric. It is a tangible piece of our country, and we must not permit it to be desecrated."

In my opinion, we need an amendment to our constitution prohibiting flag burning. The Supreme Court recently voted 5 to 4 allowing the burning of our flag under the guise of free speech.

If everyone would write to President Bush or our congressmen and senators, urging them to pass this amendment to protect our flag, then those people who to these things would be punished.

The late songwriter George M. Cohen wrote in his song 'A Grand Old Flag,' "It's an emblem of the land I love and home of the free and the brave." Never have words been truer.

Respectfully,
Nina S. Garcia,

Blood donors sought in Red Cross drive

To the Editor,

The American Red Cross Mobile Unit will be at the American Legion Home, Post No. 139, Bay St. Louis, on Wednesday, Oct. 11 from 1 to 7 p.m. Quota for this blood drawing is 100 units.

I would like to remind the public of the importance to the life and health of our community to have blood available at all times, and that to do this we need help.

Anyone who is physically able and 17 years old or older may come in Wednesday and donate a unit of blood.

Your assistance in any way to make this a successful and productive drawing will not only be appreciated, but is essential to those who will need this blood.

Sincerely,
John D. Rutherford, Jr.

Newspapers give you freedom to make your own choices

Recently America witnessed an authoritarian government's iron-fisted response to democracy as we learned about the halting of news flow from Tiananmen Square in Beijing. As we look at the world from Main Street, we sometimes lose sight that we enjoy a precious heritage: a free press, unfettered by government, a forum for democracy.

This week is National Newspaper Week, a time to realize what exactly it is we do enjoy, often take for granted, and rarely think about: the many benefits we enjoy from the free flow of information in a free society.

This newspaper is a forum for democracy. It does not just publish the views of our editors. It certainly provides a forum for the varied views of our readers in our letters columns. It delivers information that helps you choose freely what to feed your family, what to wear, what to enjoy, where to live and work—a broad spectrum of choice in ads from our business community. Our news columns reflect the lifestyles of our community. And, where there are diverse views and positions, we try to bring you all sides—not always as you may see them—but we try.

As you read this newspaper, realize that in our democracy no government will cut us off from you because it disagrees with what we are reporting. No letters columns are closed to you because some government doesn't like what you've got to say. No commercial information in an ad is turned down because a government favors one company over another.

As you read this newspaper, realize that this and all the newspapers across the nation not only bring you information, but also independent opinion—not what the government wants you to think, but opinions protected under the First Amendment to our Constitution. This newspaper brings you information about what those in government think and do, and equally important, what those out of government think and do.

As you read this newspaper, realize it is the product of many people—reporters, editors, circulation staffs, advertising people, production staffs—all making sure this free flow of information is brought to you regularly.

And as you read this newspaper, realize there are threats to your right to information, even in our democracy. There are those who would make less information available from government, national or local. There are those who would reduce your ability to know by curbing public notices of municipal activities.

There are those who would restrict the advertising of products even though those products are legal to sell. There are those who don't recognize that through a free press, citizens will most often make intelligent decisions if they are given full information on a subject.

WASHINGTON REPORT

By Senator
Thad Cochran

Senator outlines Mississippi projects in defense bill

At a recent news conference, U.S. Sen. Thad Cochran said three major Mississippi activities have been assured by Senate passage of the Department of Defense fiscal year 1990 Appropriations bill.

"Some programs administered by the Department of Defense in Mississippi have a very significant impact on our state's economy," Cochran said. Cochran said the spending bill provides for shipbuilding funds and contracts with the U.S. Navy, which will continue vital programs at Ingalls Shipbuilding in Pascagoula.

"This is a very important aspect of the bill as far as our state's economy is concerned. Ingalls employs more than 10,000 at the Pascagoula shipyard," he said.

The Lockheed facility at Meridian, which participates in construction of the C-130 aircraft, will also benefit from funds in the spending bill, he said.

The final version of the bill also will provide funds for the purchase of ammunition manufactured in Mississippi at the Army Ammunition plant in Hancock County in the next fiscal year, Cochran said.

"This is a program that has been under some pressure and there were predictions that the plant would be closed," Cochran said.

"Because of this bill and the firm commitment that we have from the leadership of the Senate Appropriations Committee, we're going to be able to continue operation of that plant in 1990," Cochran said.

The Senate passed the $288 billion spending bill by a 96-2 vote recently. House and Senate conferees will meet to work out the final version of the appropriations bill.

ART IN CHURCH

The stained glass windows of Chartres Cathedral are some of the most prized artworks in the world. "Art of the Western World" at 9 p.m., Monday, Oct. 9 on Mississippi ETV traces the development of this and other examples of sacred architecture from the Romanesque through the High Gothic.

Series host Michael Wood visits Romanesque basilicas, France's pilgrim churches, England's monumental Durham Cathedral, the spectacular stained-glass and flying buttresses of Chartres and St. Denis to explore "A White Garland of Churches."

When those kids come calling, remember to smile back

A couple of weeks ago when I was writing a notice about a charity bike-a-thon, I mentioned that many of the children seeking sponsorships may already know it's hard for adults to resist a kid working for a good cause.

Recently, The Sea Coast Echo has been among the stops made by many children selling candy for various causes. I remember the routine. I did it myself when I was small.

I started out as a little Brownie scout who could barely count change but could sell Girl Scout cookies. It had something to do with ringing doorbells, smiling and stammering out my sales pitch.

By the time I graduated to band calendars and barbecue tickets, the stammer went away. The smile was easier, and the sales pitch was much more coherent.

I had learned a little about public speaking, though I didn't realize it until years later when I went to junior college and took a speech class. Being able to explain a sale to the person who answered my knock at the door taught me to string ideas together logically.

It was a lot more complicated than ringing a doorbell and saying "Trick or treat" at Halloween.

I also learned to smile again AFTER I made a sale, because it seemed to make the people who bought the candy or the notation on the birthday calendar feel they'd done something important.

The best part was that they'd smile back.

It's like these little kids who come in here. We may not buy from them very often, but each time we do, we get a smile. That smile may be shy, missing a couple of front teeth or even self-conscious, but it's worth more than the merchandise.

In my opinion, just being patient enough to listen to the sales pitch does more for the child's self-confidence than immediately sending him away. Sometimes, it's hard to have that kind of patience in a busy office, but we try.

I like to think that listening helps the child get ready for his next sale.

Sometimes, though, the kid is so cute that you'll buy from him anyway, even if you don't want what he or she is selling and even if you can barely understand what he's saying.

More candy may be the last thing you need at the moment, but will power melts away just like it does when you've been watching television and you've just seen eight food commercials in a row.

I was watching one of the mothers who works here in the office when a couple of her kids came around to get bike-a-thon pledges. The older of the two kids was doing the speech and it was interesting to watch her mother as she observed the child's selling technique.

The technique improved with each person the little girl visited, and so did the size of her mom's smile.

The next time that kid goes out to sell something, she'll already know how it's done—and she'll know the importance of a smile.

I wonder what the next youngster who drops by will be selling—besides smiles, I mean.

Smith featured artist at Pass Library

BY D.C. HARVILLE

Lydia Smith is the featured artist at the Pass Christian Library for the month of October.

Among the pieces exhibited at the library until the end of the month, are portraits in oil, acrylic studies of Mississippi wildflowers and impressionistic ocean scenes.

Smith, who began painting without lessons as a child, has studied at the John McCrady Art School in New Orleans. She has had workshops with Louis Ribak and C.W. Thevaines in Taos, New Mexico and with Martha Ambrose and Violet Mullin in New Orleans.

Her work has been exhibited in the Delgado Museum in New Orleans, the Old Capitol in Baton Rouge, and New Orleans Art Guild shows. Her work also is in permanent collections at the LSU Medical School, New Orleans and the Metairie Country Club, Metairie.

"I enjoy painting more than anything," Smith said.

A reception for the artist will be 2 p.m. to 4 p.m. Sunday, October 15 at the library.

BACK TO NATURE

These birds of a feather that flock together signal fall

Special to the Echo
By LYDIA SCHULTZ
What do you see or feel that lets you know it's fall? That thought came to me and has stayed on or near my mind.

We know the slant of the shadows change—and lengthen earlier in the day. My flowers that bloom in winter start to bud. Fewer birds come to our feeder because there's so much natural food around.

But one more thing lets me know fall is here. Blackbirds (Grackles, as they are commonly called) flock in such large numbers that their "tr'king" in the tops of trees can bring a body out of a house to check the ruckus!

You've heard the ancient adage, "Birds of a feather flock together." That's true to a point. Often several species may be mixed in one flock.

Flocking is not completely understood, of course. It is true most species gather together part of the year. Few live alone. (Birds of prey are generally solitary.) But huge numbers of Grackles and Red-Winged Blackbirds, Cowbirds and Starlings winter in our Southeast; so we see first hand this flocking for food sources and to fulfill they all do. When one starts to feed, they all do. They'll take over a puddle or bird bath, for when one bathes, they all want to. That's flock behavior. When they chatter, the noise is almost deafening.

Another sign that it was really and truly the end of summer was the swarm of Humming-

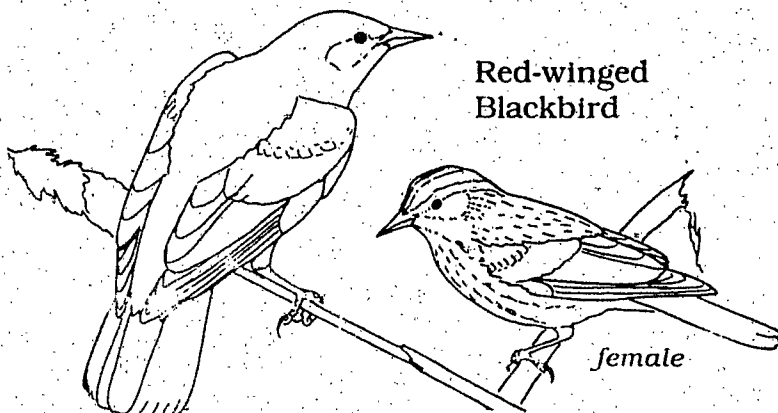

Anyway, they swarmed my backyard and mine was not unique. Reports from all over the county, neighboring counties, and Louisiana said the same. Fall is here. The Hummingbirds were preparing to leave for warmer more tropical wintering grounds in Mexico and Central America. Some had nested this past spring as far North as southern Canada. They had my respect and awe.

I spent time enjoying their antics, painfully aware that it would soon end, silently wishing them well.

Each day I have carefully scanned "my" clan of Hummers, looking for that bill that is extra long; that tail that is rufous brown; maybe I'll hear the clacking chips of the welcomed thrice visitor, "My Buff-bellied Hummingbird." There's always a chance that we will have another rare bird show up here in Hancock County. A Western or Tropical Hummingbird.

It's fall. Migration for all birds started two months ago. Anything can show up. Just look in the trees. Scan your yard. Take it in. Enjoy.

Thought for this month: Is your yard a safe place for a bird that has traveled a thousand miles and has maybe a thousand or more miles to go?

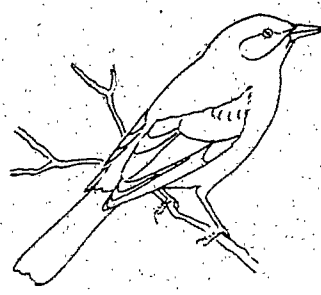

Red-winged Blackbird

their very gregarious nature. I heard the first sounds this past week. It made me feel that a seasonal change had really occurred. (Never mind the nip in the air. We know we can't count on temperatures to stay the same here!)

Soon we will see lawns covered in Blackbirds or Starlings. When one flies, they all do. When one swerves in flight, birds. Notice I do not use the word "flock." Hummers are not gregarious. They don't seem to enjoy one another's company as, say, Blue Jays, Chickadees, Blackbirds, Bluebirds. They swarm to compete for a food source. They tolerate one another's presence. But enjoy? Help one another? Give me a break! They are feisty loners by nature.

SHOPPING UP A STORM

By Katy McGuire
Caire

It's time to "bring home the bacon" with the special prices on bacon at area supermarkets—and on smoked sausage as well, so let's put some of that in the shopping basket, also.

Delchamps and National offer bargains in bacon just now, and Jitney Jungle features smoked sausage, as does Winn-Dixie, and National offers a special value in Cajun smoked sausage and in turkey smoked sausage—so you've quite a lot to choose from!

Bacon and sausage add special spark to many a quick meal, and who among us doesn't relish that old, but ever-so-good standby—the "BLT"—Bacon, lettuce and tomato sandwich? I usually "fry up" a pound of bacon at a time, and store in a tightly covered glass jar in the fridge, for quick meals and snacks—but only too often find myself snacking ahead of time!

But, this is a solution for live-aloners or couples who "hate to get out the pan to fry a few slices at a time."

And, for a tasty way to use that bacon, here's:

BACON FRIED CORN
9 strips bacon, diced
1 large onion, chopped
4 cups fresh corn kernels
1 red bell pepper, seeded, chopped

2 Tblsp. minced fresh parsley
1 Tblsp. milk
Pepper, salt to taste

Fry the bacon crisp, drain and reserve. Add the onion to the drippings, cook and stir until crisp-tender, say four minutes. Add the corn and red bell pepper, cooking and stirring until also crisp-tender, say five minutes. Stir in the parsley, milk, pepper and salt. Garnish with the reserved bacon pieces. (Four servings)

As for the smoked sausage, enjoy sausage and grits and fried apple rings with biscuits—a real indulgence! Or try a smoked sausage jambalaya, mixing the rice with sausage instead of shrimp—or perhaps combining the two—delicious!

Speaking of apples—fresh from the Washington state orchards, Red Delicious apples, along with Golden Delicious, from usual to jumbo size, are all but spilling over the counters at Jitney Jungle. Let's combine apples with some of those yellow onions on super-special at Winn-Dixie, in:

APPLE AND ONION BAKE
6 tart apples, cored and sliced

3 large yellow onions, sliced
1/2 cup brown sugar
1/4 cup butter or margarine, melted

1 tsp. salt
1/4 tsp. pepper, or more, to taste

1 1/2 Tblsp. butter or margarine
1/3 cup bread crumbs

Butter a 1 1/2 qt. casserole, and arrange half of the onions in the bottom. Cover with 1/4 cup brown sugar and season with half the salt and pepper. Dot with half the butter. Arrange apples atop, and cover with the remaining onions, sugar and seasonings and dot with butter.

Mix breadcrumbs with melted butter, sprinkle on top the dish. Bake in a preheated 300-degree oven for an hour. (Six servings)

Turkey, anyone? Broad-breasted turkeys are the stars at Winn-Dixie these days. Roast one now, and have all sorts of easy meals from it, or stash one away in the freezer—Thanksgiving isn't all that far away, remember.

Or have it split in half, roast one half, reserve the other in the freezer for later use. Or, snap up one of the specially-priced turkey breasts at National.

Sometimes I halve the breast, roasting one half with fruit and onions. I cut slices from the other half, for use as cutlets or in many dishes in which I formerly used veal, in the dear old days when veal was so inexpensive that it was called "city chicken" and many a chicken salad was made with veal! Turkey breast has much the taste and texture of veal, and can be substituted for veal in many dishes, but what's wrong with turkey breast itself? It doesn't need to masquerade as something else, does it? Here's one of my favorite ways to cook it:

TURKEY BREAST WITH HERB BUTTER

(Cooking the breast wrapped in foil seals in the juices and guards against dryness)

1 turkey breast, 2 1/2 lbs. or, if it's large, half breast

1 tsp. dried rosemary leaves, crushed

1 tsp. dried sage leaves, crumbled

1 Tblsp. minced fresh parsley

2 tsp. salt

Pepper

1/4 cup butter or margarine, at room temperature

Mix butter, herbs, salt and pepper in a small bowl until well blended. Heat the oven to 400 degrees. Place turkey breast smooth side down, and spread the herb butter over the turkey breast, then place on a large sheet of aluminum foil, wrapping tightly, and folding over the seam ends to seal completely.

Place seam up in baking pan, and roast for an hour or until your meat thermometer (inserted at thickest part) registers 185 degrees—don't overcook! Let cool in foil, slice at serving time.

With fresh broccoli at super-special savings at National, let's mix up:

BROCCOLI-AND-CHEESE

CUSTARD
1 bunch broccoli
3 eggs
2/3 cup milk
1 1/4 cups grated sharp Cheddar cheese

Pepper, salt to taste

Cut off and discard large leaves and tough parts of stalks. Wash, and split stalks into halves or quarters to that they cook as quickly as flowerets. Cook, uncovered, in barest amount of water, until just tender. Drain and place in buttered casserole.

Beat eggs, add milk, cheese, salt and pepper. Mix and pour over broccoli. Set casserole in pan with an inch of hot water in it, and bake in a preheated moderate oven for a half hour, or until firm. (Four servings)

Hawks grab first-ever district championship

Special to the Echo by Monica Malley
The Hancock North Central Hawks soared past the St. Martin Yellowjackets, Friday night to extend their season record to 6-0 and claim their first-ever District 8 Class 4-A championship.

Hancock, ranked No. 7 in the state going into the game, put 18 points on the board to the

No. 16 Yellow Jackets' 7 to take home the title.

The Hawks struck first when Terrence Goff overwhelmed St. Martin's defensive line and charged for a touchdown from the 37-yard line.

The extra point attempt, also by Goff, was no good.

The Hawks, under the direction of Head Coach Irvin Favre, accumulated a total of 225 rushing yards in the game, 180 of which belonged to the Terrence "The Flash" Goff and 45 by Jerome Vince.

With 19 seconds left in the first half, Vince ran from 21 yards out for a touchdown, after the Hawks had driven for 45 in seven plays. Again, the extra point attempt failed, ending the half with the Hawks leading 12-0.

In the third quarter, the Yellow Jackets saved themselves from a homecoming skunking when quarterback Randy Mills passed to Kevin Fayard who completed an 11-yard run for the endzone.

The extra point attempt by Chris Maniracco was on the mark, narrowing the Hawk's lead to 12-7.

The Hawks responded to the St. Martin's threat with a second touchdown by Goff, who dashed in from the 29, cinching the teams sixth win of the season.

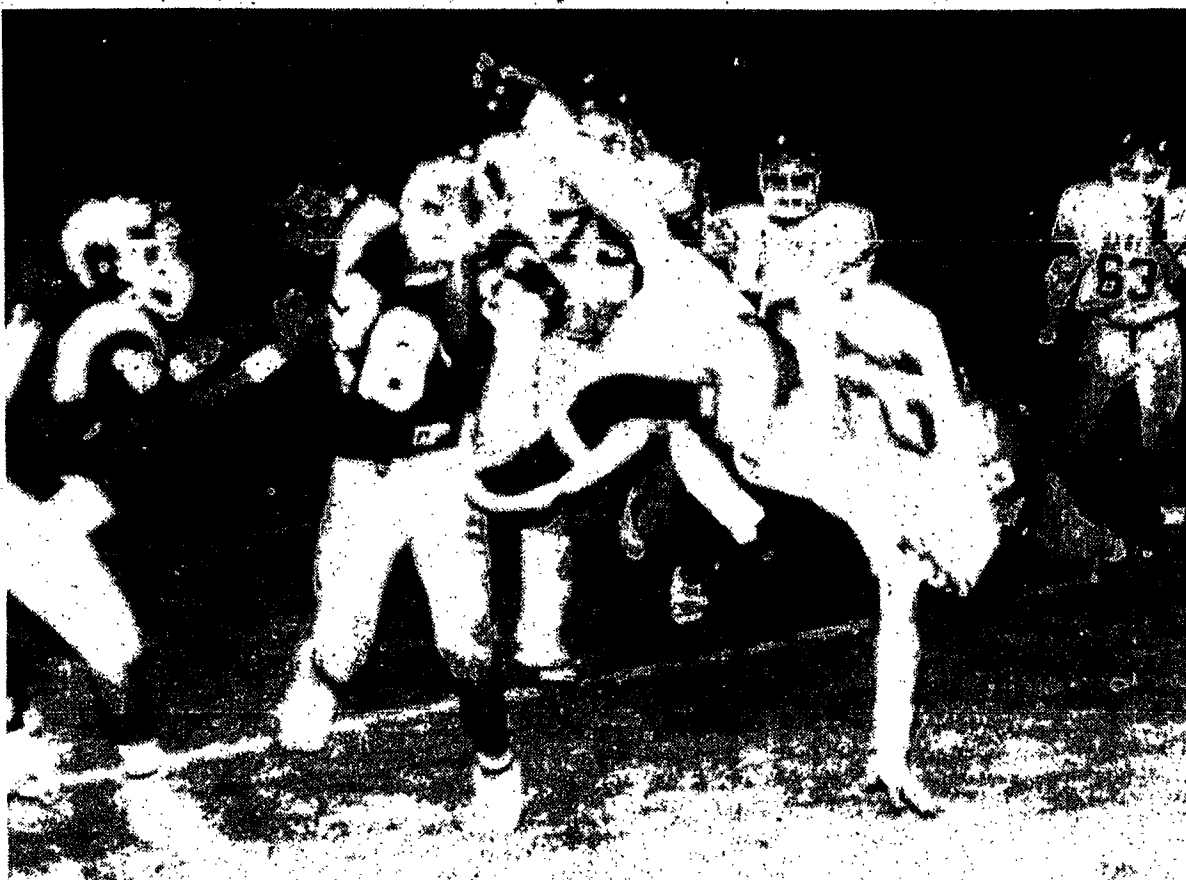

Hawks Richard Simmons and Reagan Ladner, on the defensive line, both were credited with several tackles during the game. Ladner also intercepted several passes rounding out his performance.

"It was a good enough effort to win, even though they still made some bad errors at crucial times," said Coach Irvin Favre. "This is the first time in the school's history they've won anything like this."

According to Favre, the coaching staff feels it was a big win because none of them has ever coached a district championship team.

"I feel particularly proud because this is my first district title with 23 years of coaching experience. This is a big thing that is long overdue. It sure feels great to wake up as district champs," Favre said.

The Hawks play the Long Beach Bear Cats at home next Friday. Kickoff is at 7:30.

Rocks take a tumble in Slidell Friday

Special to the Echo by Tom Ackerman

The St. Stanislaus Rock-A-Chaws had never seen Salmen High School before they traveled to Slidell, La. Friday night.

The Rock-A-Chaw head coach, Ken Lyons, was returning to face a team he had coached for six years.

For both, the introduction and the homecoming, were bittersweet affairs. The Rocks dropped their second game in the last two outings, 13-6, to set their overall record at 4-2.

In spite of some valiant efforts and outstanding plays by the likes of Rocks Shannon Garrett, Ken Booker, Sean Sewell, Gary Ponthieux and Paul Johnson, the Rock-A-Chaws could not mount an effective drive through most of the game.

For the Rocks, Garrett scored the lone TD in the second quarter on a pass from quarterback Cedric Smith from the Slidell 16-yard line running the distance to the goal.

Booker broke up the Salmen Spartans twice with key interceptions and recovered a Slidell fumble, all of which gave the Rocks opportunities they were unable to capitalize on.

Besides playing key defense, Sewell got the Rocks into good position twice on short kickoff receptions.

Ponthieux also played both sides of the field with key tackles and power runs.

And Paul Johnson intercepted a Spartan pass late in the fourth quarter to spark the Rocks to a final drive attempt.

The Rock offense seemed to finally come alive late in the game with an impressive drive picking up four first downs on ten plays.

Using quarterback Smith's arm to good advantage, the Rocks snagged six hurls on seven attempts. Smith connected with Brian Martin to move the ball from the Rock 10 to the 24.

Smith followed with another toss to Rock Mickey Quinlan for a nine-yard gain. Martin was in position on the next play for another reception at the 44.

On the following play, Garrett received and moved the ball to the Slidell 41. Booker followed suit and caught his pass at the 35 with 2:30 left in the game.

Rock Mike Lee was called on for the pass play and moved the ball from the 35 to the 25 to put the Rocks in scoring position.

Passing from the 25, Smith's final toss of the game was intercepted at the 10 to end the Rocks' drive.

Next week the Rocks will face another formidable district opponent: St. Martin, 5-1 overall, their only loss coming at the hands of the Hancock Hawks Friday. The outcome of the game could well decide the playoff hopes of both teams. Game time is 7:30 at St. Stanislaus Stadium.

Junior Tigers post wins

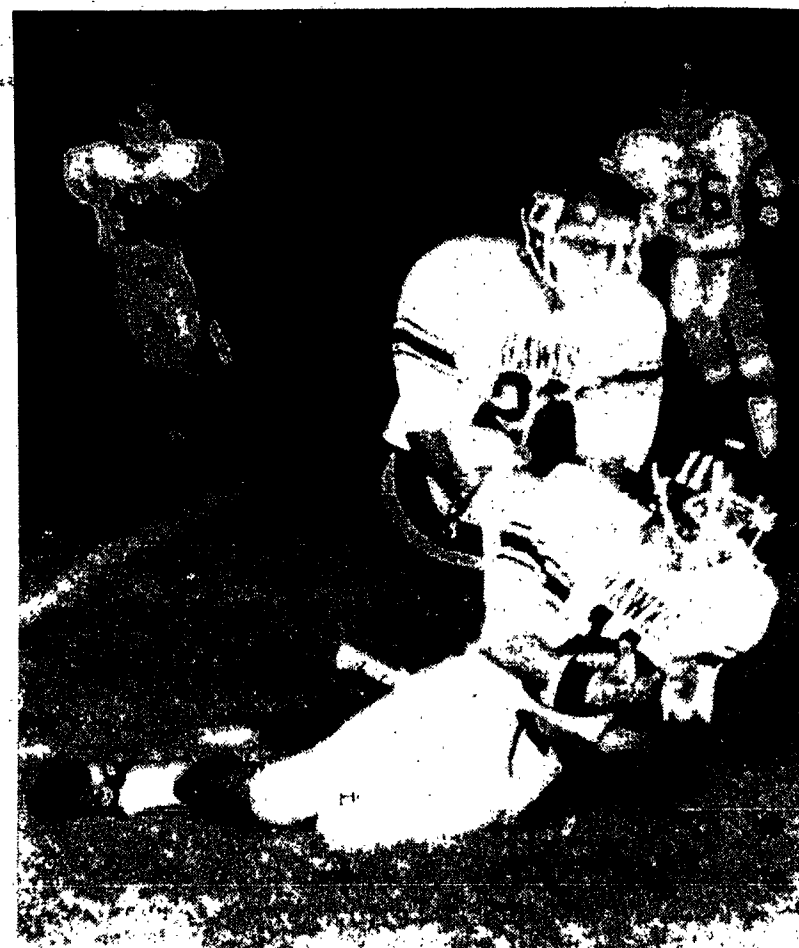

The Bay High junior football team chalked up a victory Thursday, defeating Pearl River Central, 12-8.

The junior Tiger's two touchdowns both came on runs by Brennan Compretta. They were unable to score on both point after.

The team's record for the season stands at 3-1.

This Thursday the team travels to St. Martin. Kickoff is 6 p.m.

The final games of the Tiger's schedule are away. They will face the only team to deal them a loss, St. John, in a rematch; then they meet Poplarville.

CLUBS, AUXILIARIES

Veterans of World War I Auxiliary 2537

The regular monthly meeting, after a three-month summer recess, of the Ladies Auxiliary Veterans of World War I to VWWI, USA No. 2537 was held at the American Legion Home, Bay St. Louis, at 3 p.m. September 28.

The meeting was called to order by President Lois Fallo, followed by the opening prayer by Chaplain Van Dyke and Pledge of Allegiance. Minutes of previous meeting and financial report were read and approved.

National President Julia Dickson's message in the 'Torch' was read and discussed, particularly volunteer services at veterans' and local hospitals. Also discussed was community service.

A donation will be sent to Gulfport Medical Center for canteen books for the upcoming fall carnival.

Fallo reported on the recent 37th National Annual Convention VWWI of USA Inc. and Ladies Auxiliary held in Daytona Beach, Fla. at which time she was elected president of National Region 5.

The average age of WWI veterans is 94 years.

VANS chairman Cole presented medals to members. Meeting adjourned until October 26, and members enjoyed very festive refreshments.

Hancock County Lions Club

The Hancock County Lions Club sponsored a Drug Abuse education program October 6 next to Jitney-Jungle in Bay St. Louis in connection with Lions Awareness Day, October 8.

The Sheriff's Department set up the program, and literature and pamphlets were distributed to the community on programs and goals of the Lions Clubs International.

The fall project will be 'Lions Support Law Enforcement Officers,' and each day during the month of October a law enforcement officer will be recognized.

On October 9, all officers were served coffee and donuts by Lions members.

On Lions Awareness Day, the Lions passed out gifts and fruit to the patients at Hotel Reed Nursing Home.

The Mississippi Sight Van, under the direction of Marion Erwin, chairman, assisted by Raymond Rome, Eula Rome, Lucille Boudreaux and Joyce Bermond, screened 402 students at Hancock North Central on Thursday and 475 students at Gulfview School on Friday.

The Hancock County Lions Club held an induction service Friday evening at the Hancock County Courthouse.

Lions 30N District Governor Tommy King was inducting officers, and those taking the oath of membership into the Hancock County Lions Club were Charles and Wanda Berthelot and Victor Frankiewicz Jr.

Raymond and Eula Rome sponsored the Berthelots, and Lucille Boudreaux sponsored Frankiewicz.

Past District 30N Governor Greg Clapo spoke on a Lion's responsibilities and the rewarding experience one receives for service to others all over the world.

Special guests attending were Regional Director Bob Talley and wife Kathleen, and Sandra King, wife of the district governor.

On Friday, October 6, from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. the club will appreciate donations of old eye glasses at the Drug Abuse program next to Jitney Jungle.

The club wishes to thank the community for contributions to the can shake held last Saturday.

Yarborough-Sullivan

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence E. Yarborough of Pass Christian announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Edith Anne Yarborough, to Daniel Joseph Sullivan III of New York, N. Y., son of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Joseph Sullivan Jr. of New York, formerly of Scarsdale.

Miss Yarborough is the granddaughter of Mr. Charles C. McCutcheon of Pass Christian and the late Mrs. McCutcheon and the late Mr. and Mrs. Joseph J. Yarborough of Pass Christian.

She is a 1985 graduate of Tulane University, where she received a bachelor of science degree in electrical engineering. She was a member of Kappa Kappa Gamma.

Miss Yarborough is employed with Motorola Cellular Systems in Rochele Park, N. J.

Mr. Sullivan is the grandson of Mrs. Michael Donovan of the Bronx, N. Y. and the late Mr. Michael Donovan and the late Mr. and Mrs. Daniel J. Sullivan.

St. Paul Catholic Church in Pass Christian will be the setting for the November 11 marriage.

Our Lady of the Gulf Catholic Church was the setting for the recent marriage of Karen Lee Fayard and Kirk Darin Edmonson. The Reverend Peter Mockler officiated at the double ring morning ceremony and celebrated a Nuptial Mass. The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Fayard Sr. of Bay St. Louis. The groom's parents are Carl Edmonson and Mrs. L. W. Flowers of Fort Worth, Tex.

Readings from scripture were rendered by Teddy Morel, uncle of the bride. Nuptial music was presented by Alana Noonan, Conrad Mauffray and Lana Noonan.

Arrangements of spring flowers and ferns adorned the altar.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal gown featuring off-the-shoulder styling with ruffled organza sleeves and lace adorning the bodice and hemline. Her V'd headpiece was embellished with tiny flowers and seed pearls and held a veil of illusion with net pouf at the back. She carried a bouquet of magnolias, yellow roses and baby's breath.

Lorine McLain of Bay St. Louis attended her sister as matron of honor.

Bridesmaids were Sylvia Walker, cousin of the bride, and Vicky Warthan, both of Fort Worth, Texas.

Chasity Fayard of Fort Worth, daughter of the bride, was junior maid and Candace Fayard of Bay St. Louis was flower girl.

The attendants were attired in antebellum style gowns in pastel colors, each with ruffled off-the-shoulder styling. Each wore a white portrait hat and carried a fan adorned with a magnolia and matching ribbons.

Dee Dean of Azle, Texas was best man. Groomsman were Richard J. Fayard Jr. of Bay St. Louis, brother of the bride and Rubin Jimenez of Fort Worth.

Usher was Kevin M. Fayard of Mobile, brother of the bride.

Justin Burton of Azle, nephew of the groom, was junior groomsman and Casey Holt of Fort Worth was ring bearer.

The bride's mother was attired in a rose silk dress with matching hat, while the groom's mother chose a blue gown with pleated skirt.

A reception followed the ceremony at the American Legion Hall in Waveland, where music was provided by M & M disc jockeys.

Assisting at the reception were Mr. and Mrs. Reggie Fayard, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Bourdin, Herbert Lytell and Larry Smith, all of Waveland; Mr. and Mrs. Sheild Fink of New Orleans; Mrs. Jackie Minton of Pearl River, La.;

Also Mr. and Mrs. Michael Aden of Long Beach; Eddie Breun, Dwight Guillot and Mark Breun of Bay St. Louis. Mrs. James Hall of Biloxi, godmother of the bride, made the wedding cake.

On return from a wedding trip to Biloxi, the couple resides in Fort Worth.

Adam-Shubert

Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Adam Sr. of Bay St. Louis announce the approaching marriage of their daughter, Arleen Ann Adam, to Michael Anthony Shubert, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Shubert Sr., also of Bay St. Louis.

The bride-elect is a graduate of Bay Senior High School and is employed with Century 21 Real Estate in Diamondhead.

Mr. Shubert is a graduate of Hancock North Central High School and is employed with Brown and Root Inc. in Louisiana.

Central Baptist Church on US-90 in Bay St. Louis will be the setting for the October 14 marriage at 3 p.m., with reception following at the Hancock County Fairgrounds Building.

Relatives and friends are invited to attend.
